RICHEST FLOUR SPAR FIELD IN THE WORLD

So Says Mr. Tausig, the Celebrated St. Louis Louis Mining Expert, of this District.

MR. FOHS FURNISHES SOME INTERESTING INFORMATION.

The largest carbonate vein in this district is at the Old Jim, owned and run by Blue and Nunn.

The largest lead and zinc vein mixed is at the Little Jim, on the Columbia vein owned and operated by Blue and Nunn.

The largest zinc vein in sight in this district is at the Columbia mines, owned and run by the Columbia Mining Company.

The largest lead vein in sight in this district is at the Ada Florence owned and run by the Louisville Marion Mining Company.

The largest lead, zinc and fluor spar vein mixed in this district is the Big Four, owned and operated by the Big Four Mining Co.

The largest carbonate and lead vein mixed is on the Eureka, at the Columbia mines, owned and run by Columbia Mining Co.

The largest spar vein in sight in this district is on the Sam, Mathews place near the Yandell mines, and worked by the Kentucky Fluor Spar Company.

The largest spar and lead vein mixed in sight that is in this district is on the Dave Franks place, known as the Commodore mines, owned and run by the Commodore Mining Company.

Blue and Nunn have contracted with parties to sink their shaft at the Little Jim fifty feet deeper; which will give them six levels more, three on each side.

Ben Yates, of Levisa, leased out his mineral property to W. A. Davidson, the saw mill man. Mr. Davidson expects to organize a company of capitalists of Sheridan and start his mines early in the spring. He will mine for lead, zinc and fluor spar.

Mr. William Uren, of Mineral Point, Wis., arrived in Marion Saturday. He will take up his studies in the mineral business next week if the weather will permit. It is understood that he has several tracts of mineral land to examine for different companies.

The Hopewell Mining Company struck a four foot vein of lead and fluor spar sixteen feet from the bottom of their shaft. They sunk their shaft 100 feet before drifting, and at this depth started to crosscut westward and found the vein mentioned above at sixteen feet. They will still continue running their drift across the measures, and expect to cut more veins, all of which can and will be worked from the present shaft.

The Hopewell Mining Company's property joins the Ada-Florence mines, which is supposed to be one of the richest lead mines in the world.

Our Levisa correspondent says: The Keystone mines are now getting out the best spar and lead ore ever found in this section, and there seems to be an abundance of it. The company has spent a good deal of time and money on this prospect and its many friends here rejoice with it in its splendid find.

Any one who has a nice deposit of white soapstone or white sand deposit, either, will please send samples of their mineral to Wm. Lowrey, Salem, Ky. He is in a position to sell this sort of mineral for them in large quantities, if deposit of above don't exceed ten miles from R.R. or river.

Our Hampton correspondent sends the following items:

Mr. H. C. McCord is still going down on the Cowboy shaft, and is unearthing some lead and zinc and no doubt in paying quantities if he had machinery to separate it.

Mr. J. D. Threlkeld has shut his shaft down until spring. He no doubt has something very valuable. If it is not gold it stands all the chemical tests of gold, being dissolved only in aqua regia, and assayed at Denver, Colo., same as Colorado gold.

Mr. Tausig, the mineral expert from St. Louis, who has been in our district for about three weeks for the purpose of examining our mineral field left Sunday morning with a number of samples from almost every mine in the district. Mr. Tausig says this is the richest fluor field in the world and he is also favorably impressed with our lead and zinc mines, and thinks that depth will give us one of the richest lead and zinc fields in America.

The Mountain Lead and Zinc Company's Lone Rock mines located near the Crittenden Springs, on the Columbia vein is still shut down. They have several hundred tons of fine mineral piled up at their mines, and several car loads of very fine carbonate ready for shipment. W. D. Greer, president and general manager of the company has been under the weather a little for the last two months; we are glad to say however, that he is getting better and will soon be in shape to come up and start his mines, and hustle things as he did before he got sick.

CRITTENDEN COAL AND COKE CO.

The Crittenden Coal and Coke Co., operating mines at Davis, Ky

on the I. C. R. R. between Sturgis and Dekoven, was incorporated August 1st, 1903, and shipped the first carload of coal Dec. 3d, 1903. The company is now shipping from 100 to 150 tons of coal per day and expects to double the output in a few months.

The company is mining the No. 6 a four foot vein, which is found in this field at a depth of about 225 feet below the No. 9 vein and will average from 3 ft. 11 inches to 4 ft. 4 in. in thickness.

The following analysis, made by Waring & Son, of Webb City, Mo will give a very good idea of the value of this coal as a fuel, both for steam and domestic purposes:

Moisture,	1.19
Volatiles combustible matter,	32.53
Fixed carbon,	60.18
Ash,	6.10
Total,	100

British Thermal units per pound of coal, 14015.

The company has leased about 300 acres of coal lands, including 30 acres of surface carrying the No. 7, No. 6 and Bell veins, has driven a slope 250 yards in the No. 6 vein and is making four cross entries from the slope.

The company has built a substantial, modern tipple, equipped with the latest boilers, hoisting engine, screens, and weigh basket, also boiler and engine houses, mine office, blacksmith shop, stable, seven miners' houses and a half mile of side track.

The plant was designed for a capacity of 100 to 500 tons a day.

Rosenheimer was allowed the privilege of uncovering the first coal at this mine over a year ago. The officers of the company are: C. S. Nunn, President; Hon. J. W. Blue of Marion, Secretary and Treasurer; and H. H. Sayre, now of Marion, Supt., with the affable Chas. Strickland, Asst. Supt. and Engineer. The officers and stock holders are all men financially able to do anything they want to, and under the present management of Mr. Sayre, than whom there is no nicer gentleman, this mine will soon be ranking with any of them in the output of coal.—Sturgis Co. Morgantown Sun.

ORE CONCENTRATION.

The following paper was read by its author before the Crittenden County Commercial Club at its recent banquet:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN: I have been asked to say a few words to you this evening on a subject of considerable importance to the Western Kentucky district, and a question of prime importance to the mining industry, which bids fair to become its chief pillar of support.

Perhaps nothing in mining assists so much toward the making of and increase of profits as careful and economical ore dressing.

It is this that permits the low value copper ores of the Lake Superior region, some of which contain less than 12 per cent of copper, to pay the company engaged in its mining millions of dollars in dividends. Ores running two dollars gold per ton in distant Alaska, because of this prove handsome profit makers; so it is but logical that the capitalist that would invest in our district should ask, "What is your ore dressing problem, and what advancement has been made toward its solution?"

Especially is it probable that such a question would be asked, when it is considered that nowhere in America have ores similar to these been previously exploited. This difference lays principally in the association of fluor spar as a gangue of the lead and zinc ores. Calcite, and to a lesser extent barite are also associated with the ores, but as such associations are elsewhere common, they would occasion little or no comment.

Another difference and a very favorable one it is, lays in the fact that 75 per cent of the product put through the mill is a salable product, while in most other districts 8 per cent would be regarded very good. And it is for this reason that the tailings elevator of the ordinary mill would be as useless to mills of this district as an astro-phibed limb to man.

It has been argued that the small difference in specific gravity between zinc sulphide and fluor spar about .92 is an almost insurmountable difficulty. Yet but a few years since it was similarly argued that barite, which differs but .40 from zinc sulphide, was inseparable from it. Now it is separated by at least two different methods, that of deprecipitation and by the electrostatic separator.

We will now consider as briefly as possible the various methods so far pursued in the district. The problem divides itself readily into two parts. In the first fluor spar is associated with zinc ores, together with some galena, and is to be separated from them to make a marketable zinc, a lead, and in some cases, also a fluor spar product. In the second the object, besides the separation of the galena, is to separate the calcite from a fluor spar to make the latter a high grade product.

In the first:

While hand jigs have been used to some extent in the district, and the work done by them on the ores

of the Columbia vein at the New Jim mine, have been sufficiently good to make a marketable product of the concentrates, mills of more elaborate proportions will prove more economical here, as in other districts, where this method has been in vogue, as an infant, as it were, of the ore dressing process.

Of the wet mills of the district the Columbia may be regarded the type. Here the ore is cleaned on rougher, cleaner and sand jigs and the finer products on Overstrom tables. Of the jigs the sand does decidedly the best work. The concentrates on the whole, however, from this mill are good and find a ready sale. Here the ores contain zinc sulphide, some calcite and limestone, and a small per cent of fluor spar. The problem is to save the lead and zinc, and this, as I have already said, is readily done.

The new Evening Star Mill, recently erected by the Eagle Fluor Spar Co. and which will be put into operation the early part of the new year, is to make a dry concentration. It is built on the same principle as the mill that preceded it at the same mine, being built however on a much larger scale, containing also more improved machinery, and will have as well the largest power plant in the district. Its object is to separate ores containing fluor spar, lead and zinc as well as calcite, and will be especially adapted to handle ores of a fine grade texture such as are common in this district, and where the minerals are minutely intergrown with each other. The ores here are to be very finely crushed by breakers and rolls, to be very completely sized by a system of revolving screens to a very fine mesh, and will then be treated on Hooper Pneumatic tables, which are a form of air jig. The small mill it takes the place of did some splendid work, making the most complete separation of the ores yet made in the district, so that there is every indication that the new mill, improved as it is, will be a success.

The fact that dry separation is usually attended with higher costs both first cost of plant and cost of operation, has led some to think that this would act as a drawback to the commercial end of the scheme. To this we may answer, that first, the high per cent of concentrates, 75 per cent, per ton or more per ton of ore, would readily permit of a greater milling cost, than low grade ores. Secondly, the very large scale upon which the mill is to be operated, has a tendency to reduce the average cost per ton, very effectually. So

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

1. "Why did Luke write his Gospel?"
Luke wrote personally to his friend Theophilus in order that he might more thoroughly understand that the gospel and know the certainty of the things in which he had been instructed. (See Luke 1: 1-4.) Under the guidance of divine inspiration Luke wrote his gospel as personally to us as he did to Theophilus.
2. "When and where did he get his information?"
Luke no doubt was well acquainted with the Apostles, with Christ's mother, and with others who were intimately associated with Christ. From a human standpoint, he had heard these narratives from their own lips, or had seen the things recorded with his own eyes, (divinely speaking, the Holy Spirit directed him what things to record and what things to leave unrecorded.)
3. Did Luke write a Synoptic Gospel?
He did. The first three gospels are called synoptic because the contents are so much alike, and they all narrate the same things so frequently that you can easily make a synopsis of their contents. John has but little in common with the others—one or two miracles and a few facts—hence we call his gospel supplementary.

The Marion Bible Study Class.

That the bible study class is interesting people here and elsewhere is evidenced by the following letter from Miss Maude Hughes, whom we all know:

Pulaski, Tenn., Dec. 29, 1904.
Rev. J. F. Price,

Marion, Ky.
Dear Brother Price:—I have become very much interested in your suggested Bible Study, in the Press. I am holding a position as stenographer at this place; have been here two months. I have held similar positions in Nashville for the past two years, and the Press has been a welcome breath from home each week.

Now to the point: I have read the readings carefully that you suggested, and also the research questions, but with all the references I can find, some of them still baffle me. Will you please answer some of the questions I ask, or refer me to references that will explain themselves?

Why did Luke write his gospel, when and where did he get his information, and did he write a synoptic gospel?

Daily readings, beginning Dec. 13th. In what does the Royal Genealogy differ from the Human Genealogy? Why does Luke use different names in tracing the genealogy backward, from those that Matthew uses in bringing it forward? Was Jesus taken to the Temple at the age of eight days, or five or six weeks? I cannot reconcile this by my own interpretation. Please give the exact number of times he was in Jerusalem from birth to ministry. Did not the visit of the shepherds precede that of the wise men? When did Joseph and Mary go to Egypt? Please give definition of "Nuric Dimittis," and stabad mater.

I fear I am intruding upon your time in asking so much, for I know you are always a busy man, but any suggestion you can make will be gratefully received. I have long felt the need of a regular course of Bible study, and would like your opinion of the best course to take. Lack of time so far has been an impediment to regular Bible study. I showed your suggestions to a friend of mine, a teacher in the Methodist Sunday-school here, and she is much interested in them, and will appreciate the answers you send me.

I was in Nashville six weeks ago, and called on Melrose Vernon at Draughon's College, remembering that he was one of Roy's little friends when they were children. He recognized me instantly, though he did know I was in Nashville, and had not seen me in several years. He is looking so well, and had changed so much since I last saw him. He told me a good deal of Marion news. With kindest regards to yourself and Mrs. Price, I remain, Very sincerely,

MAUDE HUGHES.

NEW YEAR'S GREETING'S.

My Leon.
New year's greetings, to the readers and friends,
And the editor of the CRITTENDEN PRESS,
Remembering the good of the year which ends,
And hoping the new may not bring less.
Let everyone lend a hand, in holding up the Press,
By turning in the latest news, and now and then some cash.
Then we'll know what's going on, it's better'n having to guess,
Tell it all, tell it straight, that reports may never clash.
If one tells this, and one tells that,
As oft-times reported in the paper:
Who can tell whether its a mouse or a rat?
Or whether its a deceptive caper?
Then help the "Press" by paying in your dues,
An item now, some money then, just send them in a letter,
Help the man who gives us all the news,
Do your duty well, then he can do his better.

Have Charge of Creal Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gholson are making Creal Springs, Ill., an ideal place for those in search of health and pleasure. Since Mr. Gholson purchased the property he has added a great many improvements. Mrs. Gholson will be remembered pleasantly as Miss Orphaetta Wyatt, of Fredonia, who has many friends in this vicinity. Creal Springs are said to be almost equal to the Hot Springs of Arkansas, for some diseases. Bright's disease and inflammatory rheumatism have both been known to yield to its healing qualities, and invalids go there from all parts of the country. As many as 2000 guests have been there at one time.

Eight months ago, I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could not keep anything on it and I lost my appetite. I was not able to do any work, and I was very nervous. I had been told that Dr. King's New Life Pills were good for such cases, and I decided to try them. I bought a box and began to take them. I was very much surprised to find that I was able to keep my food down, and my appetite began to return. I was able to get up and about, and I was able to do some work. I was very much pleased with the result, and I have since bought several more boxes and have continued to take them. I am now in good health, and I am able to do all the work I wish to do. I am very much indebted to Dr. King for his New Life Pills.

Paducah Capitalists in Panama

F. W. Katterjohn, a Paducah contractor, will leave tonight for Chicago, Ill., Cleveland, O., and New York on business. From New York Mr. Katterjohn will sail for Panama, for the purpose of securing contracts for work on the big canal. It is also said that the Paducah contractor will go in business in Panama, either in the brick making or lime kiln business. Good prices are secured for both articles in the canal district.

F. W. Katterjohn is one of Paducah's most successful contractors. He is at the head of the Katterjohn Construction company, which is now filling hundreds of thousands worth of contracts with the Illinois Central railroad. The company is getting out ballasting material for almost the entire I. C. system. Their rock quarries are at Cedar Bluff, 15 miles north of Paducah.

Chief Engineer Wallace, of the canal company, was formerly with the I. C. railroad, and he has had many business dealings with the Paducah contractor. Mr. Wallace and Mr. Katterjohn are good friends, and Paducah men and capital are very apt to figure extensively in the building of the canal.

While in Panama lately Mr. Katterjohn made a trip over the entire right of way of forty-six miles and found that the government was already working 3,000 men, while the forces were being gradually enlarged as preparations advanced to be widened.
Mr. Katterjohn says that the laborers employed are mostly the Jamaican negroes at 70 cents a day. They consider this good wages because they can live on the tropical fruits, bananas being only five cents a bunch and oranges five cents for one hundred. Of course, among the Caucasian employees hand-somer salaries are paid and run very high in some departments. The good hotels of that country charge $7 a day. The canal is to 500 feet wide, forty-six miles long and thirty feet below the sea level to insure a constant flow of water to transport ships safely at all seasons.

Chief Engineer Wallace now has his surveyors at work so he can know as soon as possible the best manner in which to complete work. The forces already laboring are cutting down and hauling away the mountains that exist at the many points along the right-of-way. Some of them are over 500 feet in height. Already $40,000,000 has been spent by the French company, while many times that amount will be spent by the United States in completing the mammoth undertaking.

TIME.

Time is a train that travels on,
A road that knows no turn.
From creation to the final dawn,
It speeds without concern
For any creature wiles or wills
Tho' trudging up and down the hill,
Of life's career of one and all,
It elevates man, then makes him fall.

There is no station that's between,
The beginning and the end,
At the grand depot we'll convene,
Then God's judgment will descend,
On all alike, the high or low,
For we must reap just as we sow,
And time has marked you, God will know,
What judgment on you to bestow.

Time deals with all, regardless of His station or his sphere;
Just so will God, who is above
Regard our actions here.
If time has dwarfed and stooped our form,
If life to us is so forlorn,
Let us not grieve, but bravely pray,
For hope, till dawn of Judgment Day.

Then the treasure which we've won above,
Will be a part of God's infinite love.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT:—$1.00

THURSDAY JAN. 10, 1913.

The Colorado Legislature has finally seated Alva Adams, Democrat, in the Governor's chair.

Bank-wrecking is becoming too fashionable an amusement in this country. A generous application of kelp might curtail the evil to a certain extent.

Our old friend T. A. Harpending, the reliable New Salem correspondent, writes that he is sick
in bed and unable to send a letter this week. The Press regrets the square's indisposition and trusts
he may soon be out again.

It is stated that in Cuyahoga county, O., just one fourth of the couple who were married in that county last year have applied for divorce. The number of licenses issued was 3,881; the applications for divorce numbered 929. What a commentary on the sacredness of the marriage vow!

The jury in the Marcum damage suit gave judgment against Judge James Hargis and Ed. Callahan in the sum of $8,000 for conspiring with Curt Jett and Tom White to procure the assassination of J. B. Marcum. Now, what else ought to be done with Hargis and Callahan?

Just now Senators Dick and Faraker, of Ohio, together with their respective followers, are engaged in a nice little scrimmage
the base of contention being whether or not Gov. Herrick shall receive an endorsement for re-election. The fight waxes hotter every day and promises to degenerate into a regular "pull Dick,
pull devil" affair.

Hanley, the recently elected Governor of Indiana, said in an interview a day or two ago: "If I am convinced that Taylor and Finley will receive a fair trial in Kentucky and the requisition is drawn up in proper form, then I will honor a requisition for them."
It is understood that the requisition will soon be made by Gov.
Blackham, and then we shall see how the Governor of Indiana gaugues the honesty of Kentucky juries.

The Livingston Banner, under the leadership of O. C. Laster, seems up to the standard. The first copy for 1913 shows that the new management have made a good start by getting out a good paper. The "Banner" is a household word in Livingston county, and the people will appreciate it more and more as time wears on.

In the Hunter Edwards contest before the Congressional Commis-tee, Mr. D. C. Edwards made some sensational charges. He alleges that Dr. Hunter conspired with Gebel Democrats to get his name on the ballot, and is now trying to steal the seat which he, Edwards, had fairly won. This is a nice little Republican family quarrel and bids fair to unearth some unwar-ry trickery.

If reports are true, the cotton planters of the South have agreed to do a thing which stops little short of the criminal. The present season's output of cotton in the Southern States is 12,000,000 bales, and in order to raise the price of this staple it is said that the planters have agreed to burn
2,000,000 bales, and this unwarranted destruction has already begun at Fort Gaines, Ga., where two bales were fired in the public square with impressive ceremonies. The Press regards this as a wanton disregard of the blessings vouchsafed by Providence.

Thomas W. Lawson, a prominent Boston broker, has been writing a series of articles for "Everybody's Magazine", a monthly publication, which has stirred up a hornet's nest in eastern financial circles. According to Lawson the whole financial system of the east is little else than a hotbed of vicious rascality, with the community at large for its dupes and victims. It would seem from this that the accumulation of vast wealth at the commercial centers
of this country naturally breeds corruption and rascality. At least so one would infer from reading Lawson's articles.

It is stated that the Ohio Conference of the Reorganized Mormon Church, which assemblies in Columbus, O., on the 25th inst.,
will make a vigorous protest to Congress against the admission of Reed Smoot, the Mormon, to a seat in the Senate of the United States from Utah. During the long drawn out Congressional investigation of this case much social rottenness in Utah has developed, and the whole system of Mormonism seems to be still tainted with lecherous curse of polygamy, many prominent members of that church living openly with their plural wives in violation of the Edmunds law.

Kuropatkin's Generals say if he attacks the Japanese in their present position on the Shikoku river,
he will be defeated.

THE FIRST BANQUET

Given by the Crittenden County
Commercial Club a Pleasant Affair.

The Crittenden County Commercial Club gave its inaugural banquet at Marion last Saturday night. It was a most enjoyable affair and one that will serve well
the purpose for which it was given.

Crittenden county is being developed rapidly by its mining interests and Marion, the capital of the county, is constantly receiving renewed impetus in its advancement to the proportions of a large city. J. M. Crow, C. H.
Ellis, J. K. Waller, Darius Dyer,
L. C. Flournoy and Chas. F. Hart
of this city attended the banquet
and came home with a most favorable impression of the commercial industrial and social life of our sister city.

We found Marion to be an up-to-date city, with progressive and booming business men, large and modern business buildings, electric lights, granite sidewalks,
and other evidences of general prosperity.

The banquet was a well planned
and perfectly carried out affair.
A menu of six courses was served and a number of toasts made. Hon.
L. C. Flournoy of this city responded to "Our Guests" and his speech was one of the best of the evening.

The Crittenden County Commercial Club is an incorporated company the purpose of which is to assist in and encourage the development of Crittenden county.
It has 200 members, holding one share of $5.00 each. It works under carefully prepared articles of incorporation and by-laws, has standing committees, to look after the different interests, and is promoting the welfare of Crittenden systematically and intelligently.

We regret that more of our citizens did not attend the banquet,
for we feel sure that no matter
how many had been there, each and every one of them would have come home filled with enthusiasm and determined that Morganfield should have a similar organization.—Morganfield Sun.

FEUDAL WAR MAY RESULT.

Jackson, Ky., Jan. 9.—Public feeling in Jackson over the news of the verdict in favor of Mrs. Marcum against Judge James Hargis and Sheriff Ed Callahan, small as it is in comparison with the summed for, found expression in a popular demonstration tonight, which stood for the declaration of a belief in the innocence of both defendants.

The idea is current in Jackson
that the trial was rather a criminal prosecution than a trial for civil damages, and that the conduct of the case is responsible for the verdict rather than the testimony.

These opinions are entertained by a number of the lawyers of Jackson, while the known enemies of the Hargis faction maintain that criminal proceedings will follow the verdict, and that it is likely to bring about a renewal of the feudal troubles which were altogether responsible for the murder of James B. Marcum.

It would be impossible accurately to describe the exact condition of the public mind at Jackson, for while many are said to be secretly rejoicing at the verdict, they abstain from making any public demonstration of their feelings while the friends of the defendants are open in their protestations of their innocence.

THREE BABES.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9.—Leonor Underdal, also known as Mrs. Lena Anderson, is in jail charged with foisting upon the District Court three babies, one after another, each of which she alleged was her own child, but which in at least two cases were proved to belong to orphan asylums.

The arrest was made today, just after Herman Wennemark, a Chicago theological student, had been declared not guilty of being the father of the woman's child.

The case is the strangest in the history of courts here. I have proved that the young woman never has been a mother. The testimony indicated merely a case of the girl being insanely infatuated
with the young student.

AT SHINNEY.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 9.—Orville Gregg, the sixteen year old son of John Gregg, of this city, a school boy, is learning to talk the second
time.

As a result of an accident sustained while playing shinney six weeks ago, he is in the condition of a year old babe in so far as his ability to talk is concerned. His condition is all the more remarkable in that he can pronounce clearly, but has to be told the words
he is to say. He has already leat-ned a few simple words and doctors are hopeful that he will progress rapidly.

FOUND STRANGLED.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Mario
Dissanti, aged 24, was found dead
by her husband today in a room
on the third floor of the Terrane Park hotel. Her hands and feet were tied and she appears to have been strangled to death. A few days ago she had informed neighbors that she had received a letter from the Black Land Society demanding two hundred dollars on pain of death. A man is said to have visited her room last night and evidences of drinking was found today. The woman was reported to have about $2,000, and it was said that she was about to return to Italy.

AT A RIPE OLD AGE

The Venerable R. Y. Thomas Goes
to His Reward.

Robert Young Thomas, the well known retired minister died at his home in this city Monday morning Jan. 9, 1913, at 3 o'clock of erysipelas, from which he had suffered for some time. He was in his 81st year, having been born Dec. 18, 1831 near Bowling Green, Ky., in Warren county.

Mr. Thomas is survived by his wife, with whom he lived over 50 years, also by four children: R.
Y. Thomas, Jr., of Central City,
Mrs. Arthur Hackett of Livermore,
Mrs. O. M. James and Mrs. W. N.
Roelaster of this city.

He was the oldest minister in the Kentucky Conference excepting one Rev. J. S. Sasser of Louisville, and was a Mason of over fifty years' standing and was buried with Masonic honors.

Mr. Thomas joined the Conference in 1848 at Hardinsburg, Ky., and was 57 years in the ministry.

His first wife was Miss Mary E.
Cox, of Bardonia, who died in 1852. His second wife, who survived him, was Miss Mary Briggs, of Logan county. He was married to her in 1854.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. J. R. McAfee, assisted by the Rev. Virgil Elgin at the family residence at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Immediately afterward the family and friends left for Greenville, Ky., where the remains were interred in Ever Green cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. Price Has Resigned

General regret is expressed at the resignation of the Rev. James F. Price as pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church of this city. No man living in Marion is more respected or beloved, and it would indeed be considered a personal loss to many for him to remove from this place to other fields.
No announcement has been made as to what he will do, but we feel quite safe
in saying he will engage in gospel work in some capacity, probably the evangelistic field, should he not reconsider his resignation, which his friends hope he will do.

THE SCHOOL BUILDING.

The school building is progressing splendilly. The walls are about completed and the roof will soon be on and then the building will soon be in ready for the school. The old chapel is being cut in two and two fine school rooms will greet the pupils next Monday morning.
The best news yet is that the progressive trustees will have a fine heating apparatus put in. Health, cleanliness and regard for life of our children demanded this be done. When spring fairly dawns Marion will possess the handsomest and best equipped edifice
in Western Kentucky, out of Paducah, and the very best in the State, comparing size.

Mrs. N. T. Groves Passes Away

Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock the spirit of Mrs. Fannie Groves passed from earth to eternity. Mrs. Groves had been a long and patient sufferer and for many weary months she was confined to her bed at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Len Johnson, who assisted by her sister, Mrs. J. H. Lay, devoted all her time and attention to her mother. Everything that love and thought could suggest was done for her, but all to no avail. She gradually grew worse, until the end came Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Groves was born at Tolinsport, Ind., Feb. 1st, 1812, and was a daughter of Hiram Simons, a well known retired capitalist of that city. She was married at the age of 22 to Capt. Hugh Patterson, of the U. S. army, but he died soon after the war on July 17th, 1865. One child blessed the union, who is now Mrs. J. H. Lay, the wife of ex-Mayor Lay, of Gas City, Ind.

On March 12, 1876, she was married to Prof. N. T. Groves, a noted educator, who has held many positions of trust with schools in this state and Indiana.

Mrs. Groves has many friends at Troy, Tell City and Newburg, Ind., and at Rochester, Hawesville and Evansville, Ky., at all of which places she and her husband had lived, and he had taught in the schools.

The funeral was held at the residence of Len Johnson Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock and was conducted by the Rev. Virgil Elgin. Wednesday morning the family took the remains of their beloved dead to her old home at Tolinsport, Ind., for interment.

Mrs. Groves was a member of the Christian church at Rochester, Ky., and lived a consistent Christian life. Just before she died, during one of her rational moments she called her husband to her side and told him to deliver this message to her daughters: "Take God at His Word, believe what He says, do what He commands, become and be what He requires. Love as He directs and trust Him lovingly for what He promises."

WANTED

MORE members for The Commercial Club. We need about 30 names on our roster to fill out the first one hundred. We could name about 30 men in Marion who would make very desirable members, and add lustre to our crown of success. We could make these names public, but we do not wish to be come personal.

When our club's membership comprises about all the available men in Marion and vicinity, then we shall be able to advance plausible reasons for calling for residents throughout the county to join our movement and assist in our efforts for progress.

We know that we have the interest and hearty sympathy of these thirty back yard Marionites, but their cooperation and support would be of greater value to us and incidentally to the community.

Now, we don't want to use the club as a "Big Stick" to drive members in, or to force any issue whatsoever, but your endorsement of the club's efforts and purposes by becoming a member is very essential to insure a full measure of success.

Come to our meetings anyway; they are not "exclusive."

This invitation means YOU.

IN SOCIETY.

Social Club held its second annual reception on Tuesday night, Jan. 3, at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Deboe. An elegant dinner was served at 5 o'clock. Games were had for an hour. Each member of the club brought a guest; the married ladies taking their husbands, the single ladies each brought some friend.

After dinner was served, the guests repaired to the parlor, where the entertainment committee had prepared some amusing contests for the evening. In the contest of "Disgraced Words" Mr. H. A. Haynes was the first to make out the list, arranging the letters of eighteen different countries within a very few minutes, while others worked at the list for half an hour, and not so successfully. The "Disgraced Contest" was then taken up. The gentlemen were asked to write a description of the costume of the lady with whom he had just been to dinner. Messrs. G. M. Crider and H. K. Woods, and with each other for the "loser." In this contest Mr. Crider showed his artistic skill in picturing the features of the lady whom he described, while Mr. Woods' description of the costume of the lady was just to the point.

Nine year's resolutions were then taken up. The following was placed on a small blackboard, and each one wrote, taking the initial for a word. Resolved, that I W G D T T C I O P A R. Mr. W. B. Yandell made the best resolution, that being "Resolved, that I will give dollars to the church instead of pennies and, but, too."

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Yandell, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Crider, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Nunn, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blue, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Orme, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Woods, Messdames Carrie Mayfield, Charles Evans, H. H. Sayre, R. F. Nunn, Fannie Walker, Miss Lena Woods, and Mrs. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Deboe.

The handsome home of C. S. Nunn was brilliant with decorations, and the costumes of the guests who attended the reception given there by Messdames Nunn and Cochran last Friday afternoon from three to five o'clock. Those who attended were Messdames Charles Evans, G. M. Crider, E. H. James, O. M. James, S. M. Jenkins, Eva Moore, J. I. Clement, G. C. Gray, Mary Miller, C. H. Whitford, A. H. Reed, Carrie Maxwell, W. B. Yandell, W. J. Deboe, Fannie Walker, J. G. Rochester, H. A. Haynes, R. F. Haynes, Thos. Clifton, Geo. Roberts, E. J. Hayward, John L. Nunn, R. L. Feunary, H. H. Sayre, J. H. Orme, J. W. Blue and Messdames Martha Henry, Ida and Lena Woods and Nellie Walker. Soavener cards, hand painted in shape of stars, with star contest on the inside of them were distributed. This and several other contests were engaged in. The refreshments were equal to the reception and worthy of the hostesses, each of whom has an enviable reputation in preparing delicacies for the table. Those who attended were high in their praise of the entertainment and will long remember the pleasant afternoon spent in this home.

Mrs. A. V. Moore very delightfully entertained the "As You Like It Club," last Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5, at her home on East Wilson avenue. The gathering was informal and was only the more enjoyable on that account. Delicious refreshments were served; cherry ice cream, cake, salted almonds and frappe being among the delicacies. Mrs. Moore who makes a charming hostess was assisted by Miss Margaret Moore and Mr. Chas. Moore. Among the other ladies who attended were noted Messdames Jas. Travis, Thos. Clifton, R. F. Haynes, H. H. Sayre, S. T. Do, Moore, Ewell Moore, J. M. Freeman and Misses Lizzie Jarvis, Lena and Ida Woods.

Invitations have been received in the city to the marriage of Miss Jamie Morris, the bright and vivacious belle of Uniontown, to Mr. Chas. Watkins, of Cleveland, Ohio, which is to take place on the 23d inst.

Last Tuesday afternoon Mrs. W. C. Bland gave an announcement party in honor of Miss Morris, and the "Sun" says of it:

At her residence in Uniontown Mrs. W. C. Bland, who is a hostess to the "union town" gave an "Announcement party" Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Jamie Morris, who is to be one of the earliest brides of the new year. The house, spacious in size and handsome in furnishing, was decked its tastefully to receive the maids and matrons who answered the hostess' invitation. The guests were received in the hall by Mrs. Bland, assisted by three young friends, Misses Murray Chapman, and Rathman. The welcome was further accentuated by Mrs. R. L. Orme and Miss Jamie Morris, who were stationed in the parlor. Shortly after 2 o'clock the tallies were distributed preparatory to six-handed euchre, which was to be the game of the afternoon. These ladies appropriately bore the figures of a modern Romeo and Juliet, he propounding, through a megaphone, the everlasting question, applicable alike to the game of cards and to the game of life, "What's trumps?" She replying "Hearts." The five tables were arranged about the parlor and library, the players being Messdames Geo. Sugg, Geo. C. Kelech, C. J. Newton and D. D. Crabbe; Misses Jamie Morris, Elizabeth Green, Mayme Tate Chapman, Lena Chapman, Gabriella and Parkie Hamilton, Zora and Miscal Mattingly, Anna Bell and Claudia Ewell, Ruth and Laura David, Elizabeth Medley, Lucy Clements, Agnes Buckman, Virginia Harris, Mary Millett, Mabel Murray, Agnes Rathman, Joece Bower, Martha Higginson, Martha Proctor, Fannie Roberts, Ella Prentice, Bettie Chamberlain and Julia Hodgkins. The tallies were kept by Mrs. Willie Cambron. During the progress of the game an alleged telegram was handed the hostess, who opened it in the presence of the guests and read aloud: "This telegram announces the engagement of Mr. Chas. Watkins, of Cleveland, O., and Miss Jamie Morris. They will be married Jan. 23rd." To most the announcement was unexpected and exclamations of surprise were mingled with the congratulations that followed. At the conclusion of the game it was found that Miss Mabel Murray was entitled to the prize, a handsome vase; Miss Virginia Harris the second prize, also a vase, equally as handsome but smaller than the first. Miss Anna Bell Yewell and Miss Ruth David had equal honors in drawing for the consolation prize, a colored picture, aptly styled "The Honeymoon." Miss Davis becoming its possessor. The ices, furnished by an out of town caterer, accompanied by cakes and nuts, were served at the card tables. Before the final adieu was spoken the guests were invited to gather about the punch bowl and drink to the health of the bride-elect. Several toasts were given, some of the ladies making clever little speeches, and all the guests wished well to the fair young girl, who for several years has been a member of Uniontown society. In addition to the guests given the invitation list included the names of Messdames Gabriella Phillips, Rebecca Byrne, R. D. Orme, G. H. Chapman, J. F. Murray, J. J. Millett, and C. Z. Cambron, H. F. Dade, G. Henderson, W. J. Hatfield and T. C. Hutchinson, of Evansville; Misses Florence Cooper, Martha Savage, Nancy Vollette, Flora Nelson, Martha Harris, Ruby Quigley, Etta Malone, Jonnie Roberts, Gertrude Clements and Mary Emma Medley.

SULLINGER-PARIS.

At the residence of Mr. Joel Pickens in the suburbs of Marion, Rev. J. S. Henry united in marriage, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, Mr. Wm. D. Sullinger, of Irma, and Miss Mary Lee Paris, the beautiful daughter of Mrs. Joel Pickens and the late Josiah Paris. The attendants were Mr. T. E. Guess and Miss Minnie Mayes. After the ceremony which united the happy couple "for the better or worse," the bridal party and guests partook of the wedding supper which had been prepared in her unimitable style by the bride assisted by her mother.

Wednesday they were the guests of county surveyor Jas. Sullenger and family near Irma. They will go to house keeping in the Geo. Foster house out on the Salem road. The Press with their many friends extends congratulations and best wishes.

Te Lecture in Marion Jan 19th

The Rev. Edward Thomson, general manager of the Sunday School League of America, and secretary of the international committee which has in charge the World's Sunday Rest Congress will lecture in this city Thursday evening, Jan. 19, at 1 o'clock. Mr. Thomson is an eminent and scholarly divine, who will interest all who take advantage of this opportunity to hear him. Of him the Rev. Samuel M. Smith, D. D., First Presbyterian, Columbus, S. C. says: "In this church he easily held the attention of a large congregation from beginning to end of his address. The impression made was distinctly and decidedly favorable. I would be glad if the same address could be heard in every congregation of our synod. It cannot fail of impressing the importance of perpetuating the Sabbath of our fathers."

J. D. Chapman, D. D., Duffy Street Baptist church, Savannah, Ga.: "The lecture he gave in our church was not only superb in manner, but profoundly interesting in matter. I wish everyone in this country could hear that lecture. It cannot fail to do great good."

Rev. W. A. Rogers, Buncombe Street Methodist church, Greenville, S. C.

With point and force he presented his theme, and our people were highly pleased."

E. P. STEWART.

Jeweler and Optician,
MARION, KENTUCKY

FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

CAMP CONNELL, SAMAR, P. I., Nov. 21, 1904.—Many a long evening have I sat in a weatherboard shack in old Kentucky, when the wind howled across the fields, and read weird tales running some thing like this:

The Philippines: Land of sunshine and flowers, waving palms and beautiful ferns, majestic mountains and roaring torrents, luscious fruits and picturesque people.

Now from the business man's standpoint or that of the traveler with leisure in search of the picturesque this description fits all right. The mercantile opportunities are here and so are the scenic novelties. But the regular soldier pays no heed to those things and although the country may be a veritable Garden of Eden he will find something to grumble about. It is this standpoint I am taking in writing to the good people of old Crittenden.

I was tempted to enlist by an overwhelming sense of patriotism, I am over here now, and woe betide the "personally conducted traveler" who wrote those enticing sketches should I ever meet him.

I do not wish to be classed as a pessimist, but simply wish to describe things as a private in the regulars sees them.

The beautiful sunshine is a glare, hotter than the hinges of hell. The average Philippine flower would stink a hyena away from a glue factory. The waving palms are described by Mark Twain as resembling dilapidated umbrellas, and the ferns, one and all, have stickers that leave a wound that one will remember for six months. The majestic mountains—well, just carry a Krag rifle and one hundred rounds of 30-3s, blankets, haversack and three days rations over one of those mountains, and then try to extract any poetry out of the situation. This load itself on a dead level would make a Mexican burro bat his eyes; and the roaring torrents are here all right. I know, because I paid $13.15 for a rifle that lies at the bottom of one of them. But there are lots of romantic, sentimental people who never see a river tilted up more than it ought to be, and getting a hump on itself without raving about it. The fruit, little shriveled up bananas about the size of a Carolina peanut, and coconuts a half cent apiece.

The ten commandments of the hospital corps are all condensed into "Don't eat the fruit or you will have the dysentery;" and "sleep under a mosquito bar or you will have fever." And the people picturesque! But we tell you about them as we see them. The high priced correspondents have been charitable enough to divide them into tribes and to credit them with distinguished traits, but the fact can not be disguised, that these natives are the missing link between the baboon and the human race. There is one tribe that can always be named at sight and that is the Igorotes. They wear nothing but a "gee" string, but their hair grows long and is said to be cannibals; carry spears and talk a language that sounds something like the combination of a base drum and a flute.

If the word picturesque can be applied to any Philippine this tribe certainly deserves the appellation.

Take the bamboo and the dogs away from most of these islands and the people would collapse. Nearly everything is made of bamboo; houses, hats, cooking utensils, clothing, carts, white-wash, whips, brushes, why they even eat the tender sprouts of one variety. And the dogs, you all know what they do with them; if you read about the bunch at the World's fair.

They don't need matches, most any observant soldier knows how to start a fire by rubbing together two bamboo sticks. So the Indian stories of our childhood are realized at last.

A soldier never goes into a hospital over here until it is the last resort. You may think I am suggesting incompetency of the medical department; but no. Sick soldiers are given the best of care obtainable. They are dieted and waited upon and convalescents are fed like kings. But no patient is ever turned out of hospital until he is pronounced absolutely well. Hikes are always hailed with delight by the soldiers, for they mean plenty of chickens.

By the way, chickens and hogs are the only connecting link between this God forsaken home of malaria and monkeys and the States.

The very sight of a barrio seems to suggest chicken to the average soldier's mind, and I don't belong to a colored regiment either. But it is well known that the Filipino don't recognize any breed of chicken except game chicken, and they are game, too, and tough. Eating one of these was looked on like chewing a brand new Goodyear boot; but at that it is a change and a relief.

The chickens have one redeeming feature, they are handsome, along athletic lines; but the hogs are a disgrace, even to the half-caste natives that own them; they are two thirds nose and their eyes resemble beads stuck in a cucumber. But their intelligence is wonderful, so much so that I will never order pork chops in a Filipino restaurant.

But I am getting too serious, and this little affair of ours we are having over here should not be taken too seriously. So I will bring my letter to a close with my best wishes for the Press and its readers.

Respectfully,
BURT E. W.

Saved From Terrible Death.

The family of Mrs. M. T. Bobbitt, of Bargerion, Tenn., saw her dying and were powerless to save her. The most skillful physicians and every remedy used, failed, while consumption was slowly but surely taking her life. It's the most certain cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Woods & Orme's drug store.

LA GRIPPE—PNEUMONIA

So many people who have apparently recovered from an attack of La Grippe are stricken with Pneumonia. This is due to the fact that the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs are left weak and unable to resist disease.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

not only cures La Grippe Coughs, and prevents Pneumonia, but strengthens the Lungs so they will not be susceptible to the development of serious lung troubles. Do not take chances with some unknown preparation that may contain some harmful drug when FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR costs you no more and is safe and sure. Contains no opiates.

I had a bad case of La Grippe about ten years ago which left my Lungs so weak that I have been troubled more or less every winter since until I used FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, which cured me completely and my Lungs no longer trouble me.—J. H. BROWNING, D.D.S., Orrick, Mo.

G. VACHER, 157 Osgood St., Chicago, says: "My wife had a very severe case of La Grippe, and I left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR and it gave immediate relief."

The 50c bottles contain two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottles almost six times as much.

St Petersburg, Jan. 5.—It seems now to be definite that Vice Admiral Rojestvinsky's squadron will not attempt to reach Vladivostok at present. The decision has been reached that he await the third Pacific squadron, on which work is now proceeding night and day, and several ships of which are expected to be ready for service by the end of January. It is by no means certain that Rojestvinsky will return with his ships to European waters. He may await the Third squadron off the coast of Madagascar, or seize and make his base one of the uninhabited coral islands of Polynesia in the South Pacific ocean.

HORRORS OF PORT ARTHUR.

London, Jan. 4.—The Daily Mail's Chief correspondent says that the Russian officers who have arrived bring terrible descriptions of conditions existing in the hospitals of Port Arthur, which they say were worse than those of the battlefield. They relate how the Sisters of Charity, accustomed as they are to such ordeals, sickened under those conditions and faint at their posts because of want of nourishment.

The wretched patients toward the end complained bitterly of what they called the heartlessness of the Sisters of Charity, who grew so accustomed to human suffering that they seemed to lose all sympathy for the victims, the correspondents adds. "Medicines and doctors were scarce and the shrieks and groans of the wounded mingled with the curses and yells of men who were undergoing operations without anesthesia, combined to make such an inferno that it was a relief to rush from the foul atmosphere and horrible sights even if the shell torn streets were the only alternative."

Every Two Minutes

Physicians tell us that all the blood in a healthy human body passes through the heart once in every two minutes. If this action becomes irregular the whole body suffers. Poor health follows poor blood; Scott's Emulsion makes the blood pure. One reason why is such a great aid is because it passes so quickly into the blood. It is partly digested before it enters the stomach; a double advantage in this. Less work for the stomach; quicker and more direct benefits. To get the greatest amount of good with the least possible effort is the desire of everyone in poor health. Scott's Emulsion does just that. A change for the better takes place even before you expect it.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

FOERG'S REMEDY

the great blood purifier

Read this grateful letter from a prominent Kentuckian

Princeton, Ky., Feb. 4th, 1903. I wish to state for the Foerg Remedy Co. of Evansville, Ind., that I believe their great Remedy, known as Foerg's Remedy, the great blood purifier, saved my brother's life some ten years ago. He was troubled with a blood disease, and it seemed he could get no relief until he took Foerg's Remedy some six months before this.

After taking five bottles he was entirely cured of his trouble, and when he died five years ago he was entirely well of that disease. I also took two bottles as a blood purifier and was much benefited.

People do not become interested in these subjects until failing health or a distressing outbreak of the skin reminds them sharply of their ignorance. Is it any wonder then that so many become the easy prey of venders both inside and outside the medical profession, and too often find a tragically early grave, when a little common sense and knowledge would have shown them the means of recovery and spared their lives. Know thyself!

AND HERE'S THE REMEDY

Forewarned is forearmed—let this warning sink deep in—obtain from us or from your druggist a trial quantity of the Remedy—test its efficiency the first time you have the opportunity so that you may know for yourself and become an enthusiastic convert to the virtue and strength of our marvelous blood remedy—when then you will refuse to be without it until your cure is effected. MINING MATTERS.

we may consider the chance of success of this method sufficiently good were other methods unobtainable.

As regards the second part of the problem: Some of the veins of the district, such as the Klondyke and Memphis, produce a lump product which requires only a small amount of hand picking to make it a No. 1 fluorspar. Other ores are gravel in form and as well as the finest produced in mining the lump are readily cleaned for market, either by the crude gravity washer or log washers. Then come those which have fluorspar associated with calcite, and some galena, and sometimes also minor products. For such ores the Kentucky Fluorspar Co's Kentucky Mill and the Marion Zinc Co's Riley Mill have been erected. As regards the concentration of the galena or lead sulphide, this is as readily effected in these mills as the Columbia and Evening Star mills. When Prof. H. A. Wheeler was asked what he thought of the galena concentrates of the Kentucky Mill on exhibition at the Fair he aptly remarked, "They are too good."

The difference in the specific gravities between calcite and fluorspar is still less than between the latter and zinc, it being only .41. Yet in the Kentucky Mill, after a little hand picking the ore being crushed and screened, is sent over two seven compartment cleaner jigs and a fair product results.

The Riley Mill, the largest and most improved of the West mills of the district, gives hope of producing with some slight modifications a good separation of the two minerals.

In summing up it may be said that both parts of the problem can be similarly treated, and for wet mills for the ores of this district, experience shows, I consider, the following points, as being essential to their construction:

That preparation be made for a small amount of hand picking previous to the crushing of the ores.

That the head end of the mills will require a decrease at least by the exclusion of the rougher jig, and the tail end an increase by increases in number of cleaner, and sand jigs and concentrating tables. That no gain is made by a greater number of cells than four for the jigs.

That the ore will require finer crusher, crushing and close sizing by means of trommels and hydraulic classifiers.

The grinding of the fluorspar, notably at the Kentucky Mill, represents the final stage of the process of raising the market value of the fluorspar. This portion of the plant may be installed at a comparatively small extra cost and consists principally of a drier for drying the usual mill product, then either ball, ball or Griffin mills for pulverizing it and a bolting machine for sizing. The cost of grinding per ton is very small, but the grinding adds rather largely to the profits.

A new kind of separating process has been invented in Australia, and put in practical application with successful results on the Broken Hill ores. This is known as a "floatation" process in as much as the separation is effected by floating certain mineral particles to the surface of a bath, whence they may be skimmed off. It appears there are three methods so far applied in connection with this process. One of these makes use of dilute sulphuric acid, while the other two use nitric acid and chlorine water, respectively. While the first of these methods would be inapplicable to the ores of this district, owing to the effect of sulphuric acid upon fluorspar, it is probable that either of the other methods could be made commercially applicable to the ores of this district.

But there is still another remedy that might be applied and one which I consider a most practical one. Fluorspar, as is well known, is used as one of the best fluxes used in metallurgical practices. It has been successfully used in the metallurgy of almost all the commercial metals, with the result of producing higher grade products. The presence of fluor spar in zinc ores has been objected to by zinc smelters, not because of any ill effect produced on the quality, for the quality of the spelter is actually heightened thereby, but is due entirely to the fact that the muffles and retorts in which the zinc is ordinarily smelted have not been made fluorspar proof. There is a method by which the muffles and retorts can be made proof to the attacks of the fluorspar and the logical thing would be to erect such a smelter here to smelt the zinc ores of the district which, after milling might still contain a small percentage of fluorspar. It is probable that fluorspar would materially assist in the desulphurization of roasted zinc and sulphides, it being used as a desulphurizer in iron and steel metallurgy.

In conclusion it may be said that we need have no concern but what the advancement towards the solution of the ore dressing problem of the ores here will keep step with the rapid strides which bid fair to be made in the mining industry here in the near future.

Dr. Norwood telegraphed me this morning to say to you that he regrets very much that unforeseen circumstances had prevented his leaving Lexington in time as he had hoped for to the very last, so as to have been with me tonight. So he has asked me, as I will shortly become a member of the State Geological Survey, to represent it at this meeting, and assure the club and guests of its hearty co-operation toward the development of the district, toward which Dr. Norwood has assured me, he is most favorably disposed. As I am to have direct charge of the detailed geological work and the mapping of the district, which is to begin in the early spring, I assure you I mean to do all I can toward the district's success. I think there is one feature of concentrating not to be overlooked, as tending toward the full development of the district, and that I consider the mutual co-operation of all concerned in its welfare.

F. JULIUS FOLS.

Considerable excitement prevails in the New Salem valley over the rich strike of cobalt, nickel and manganese made last week in the Watson mine, owned by Dr. Curran Pope, of Louisville. The ore discovered will run about $500 to the ton; the vein is 15 inches in width and was struck at the 40 foot level and runs alongside the fluor spar vein the company is operating. There is no way of telling of the extent of the discovery but so far it has been found of uniform width. The vein of spar being worked by the company averages 5 to 8 feet in width, and is near the famous Cullen mine. The discovery was entirely unexpected.

The Schoolfield-Spees mine is located about three miles east of Carversville, Livingston county and about one mile west of the Crittenden county line. The present shaft is being sunk between limestone walls that are nine ft. apart. On the west wall a vein of spar and carbonate eighteen inches thick cleve to the rock. On the east wall, which began some forty feet below the surface, a vein of the same mineral twelve inches thick follows the wall rock.

The shaft is now more than 100 feet deep, and it is the opinion that when another hundred feet in depth is made mineral in good paying quantities will be found. No doubt but that the present shaft is on a true fissure vein, and when the company think they have reached "water level" drifting along the wall will be commenced. This wall rock crosses the bluff on the Thos Spees farm, almost due north, the course leading directly to the Rose Clair and Fairview mines, just across the Ohio in Illinois, a distance of two miles. Indications of the vein can also be traced some distance south of the Schoolfield-Spees shaft.

The company having charge of this mine seem to have the staying qualities and the capital too, as they will continue work during the winter. A find would not only benefit the company, but our community as well.

Tonic to the System.

For liver troubles and constipation there is nothing better than DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. They do not weaken the stomach. Their action upon the system is mild, pleasant and harmless. Bob Moore, of LaFayette, Ind., says: "No one talking, DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work. All other pills I have used griped and made me sick in the stomach and never cured me. DeWitt's Little Early Risers proved to be the long sought relief. They are simply perfect." Persons traveling find Little Early Risers the most reliable remedy to carry with them. Sold by Woods & Orme.

Found a Cure for Indigestion

I use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for indigestion and find that they suit my case better than any dyspepsia remedy I have ever tried and I have used many different remedies. I am nearly fifty-one years of age and have suffered a great deal from indigestion. I can eat almost anything I want to now.—Geo W Emory, Rock Mills, Ala. For sale by Woods & Orme.
